

Since we live in Wisconsin, we must always think about snow. At AWANA, we have a two-part snow policy. First, we all drive different vehicles on different roads and have different tolerances for bad weather. If you ever feel that it is unsafe for you to travel, then by all means, stay home. AWANA will still be here the next week. Second, there are times when we do cancel AWANA due to bad weather. The basic rule of thumb is: If Stevens Point public school activities are cancelled for the day (or evening), then AWANA is CANCELLED too. This includes snow days where school is cancelled in the morning, but the storm ends by evening. On days that snow starts up later in the day we will try to make the decision between 4:30 and 5:00, if we are going to cancel. We will try to leave a message on the church answering machine so that you can call to check our plans (341-0800). We will also try to have an announcement made on WGNV radio (FM 88.5) Normally, we will just follow the lead of the schools.
